KATEPWE.

—With hoary brow and wrinkled hair the Wanderer stepped into our sanctum the other day, and in accents grave he said, "I've got an article." "Where did you get it?" we asked in some surprise at the seriousness of his general make-up. He replied: "In going to and fro and wandering up and down upon the face of the earth." "Well, hurry up and let us have it, as we are just going to press." "Well, now, see here," says he, "that affair at Kenis the other night was worthy of hearty commendation. It was an exhaustive, well-sustained effort from the firing of the first empty paper bag to singing 'God Save the Queen,' and a program as long as Gladstone's last Home Rule bill. But we cannot do the matter justice, and wait to hear about the one at Wide Awake."

—In passing through the Katepwe Valley last week we found the late unusual excitement had entirely subsided and a strong reaction had set in. We also met rumors of many new-comers expected from Ontario next year. And we also met a very large amount of snow. Then he vanished.

BROADVIEW.

—Potatoes are a dollar per bushel here now, and no scarcity.

—The C. P. R. waterworks are now about complete. A good supply of good water has been obtained.

—Miss Lewis, who has been at Colonel McDonald's, Indian agency, for the last month, returned again on Saturday.

—Our local invalids of last week are all improving. Mrs. Nicholl, at the Manse, has had, however, a very close call.

—A. G. Thorburn is invalided for the last two days. He is suffering from a severe cough. We hope to see him round again soon.

—Mr. C. Dodds has given up his notion of going to the Old Country this winter, the hope of which he cherished so long. He finds it not easy to leave his business in strange hands.

—The Methodist church was in darkness last Sunday night. Mr. Bernie was away supplying somewhere—Wolsley, we hear—and his supply did not turn up. The Rev. Wm. Nicholl was at Grenfell, else he would have stopped the gap with readiness, as he has done on several former occasions. It is not quite the thing to have the congregation there and no minister, but I suppose it is nearly as good as the minister present and little or no congregation.

(Received Too Late for Last Week.)

—The population of this place keeps growing. Dr. Carter has got a baby boy added to his family. Mr. Revis has a girl added to his last week, and the Rev. Wm. Nicholl has also got a boy added to his, and so the population increases. You will be sorry to hear that Mr. Nicholl has had a very bad time of it. He was not expected to get over it at all. Heart disease was the cause of the danger. The other ladies and gentlemen are all doing well.

—The Qu'Appelle Medical Hall has opened a splendid assortment of new Christmas goods. Be sure to call and secure your presents at right prices.

INDIAN HEAD.

—The Indian Head carnival passed off very pleasantly. There were but few in costume, and in consequence of this, the public were allowed on the ice at 10 o'clock. All seemed highly delighted with the evening's sport. The popular manager spared no pains in making the carnival a success. A few were present from Qu'Appelle.

GRENFELL.

A large meeting of the electors of the district was held in the town hall at Grenfell on the 11th inst. to hear an address from B. P. Richardson, M. L. A., for the Wolsley electoral division of Eastern Assiniboia on the public questions of the day. After a lucid explanation of the various measures affecting their interests, passed during the late session of the Northwest Legislative Assembly, Mr. Richardson entered at length into the part he has taken as a member of the Advisory Council and detailed the various steps which led up to its final fiasco. After answering several pertinent questions put by his constituents who had listened with the greatest interest to his address, the following resolutions were passed:

1. That this meeting entirely approved of the attitude of Mr. Richardson in regard to the advisory council as being in accordance with the existing law in the Territories. Moved by Mr. C. Skrine, seconded by Mr. E. Coy, and carried unanimously. 2. That this meeting is unanimously of opinion that the time has not yet arrived for full provincial government in the Northwest Territories, and believes that the efforts recently made in the Northwest Legislative assembly to obtain such a concession from the Dominion government are contrary to the wish of the people, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Hon. E. Dewdney, member for the district. Moved by Mr. R. S. Lake, seconded by M. A. Fotheringham, and carried unanimously.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to Lieut.-Col. Lake, who was in the chair.

REGINA.

—The mayoralty contest is now fairly on, the candidates being Messrs. Jas. A. MacCaul, lumber merchant, and Richard H. Williams, building contractor. Both are considered by all to be very worthy men, and quite adapted for the important office, but the fight promises to be a hot one, and at this stage of proceeding it is utterly impossible to state which party has the better chance of being elected. There is, of course, a considerable time to elapse before nomination day, but the probability is that no other aspirant will appear. No activity is apparent for the councilorships.

—The opening of the new Methodist church in Regina was a grand success. The edifice accommodates about five hundred people, and at morning and evening services, when Rev. Dr. Sparling addressed the meetings, several were obliged to turn from the doors, all available space being filled. On Monday evening a tea meeting entertainment was held in the church, supper being given in the basement. It was admirably managed. During the entertainment Dr. Sparling opened a subscription list. Some $2,500 was still remained on the building, which cost $5,000. When the last closed the worthy contractor was able to announce a surplus, the subscription, with the proceeds for the contract which amounted to the very handsome sum of $3,200. old R. F. Davis M. P. delivered an admirable address, which was warmly received. The choir rendered several choruses and anthems very acceptably. Altogether it was the most successful demonstration in connection with religious work that has ever taken place in Regina.

REGINA PRESBYTERY.

A meeting of the Regina presbytery was held on the 11th inst. in the Presbyterian church at Wolsley. There was not a very large attendance of ministers. A unanimous call presented by Knox church, Regina, to the Rev. D. L. McKay, of Jamestown, N. Y., was read, but notice having been given that Mr. McKay had declined the call, it was set aside. Mr. Taylor was thanked for moderating on it and sympathy was expressed for the congregation thus disappointed. It was arranged that as soon as the congregation is ready to proceed, Mr. Taylor be authorized to moderate again. Arrangements were made for the collection of a sum to meet wants of the assembly fund.

In the afternoon the Rev. Hugh McKay, of Round Lake, conducted divine service after which the Presbytery conducted a meeting in which inquiry was made into the temporal and spiritual welfare of Wolsley and associate stations. The presbytery expressed its general satisfaction with the results of the meeting, and having pointed out some matters in connection with the working of the stations, several items of Home Mission business were transacted, among them being the appointment of Mr. McLeod, of Indian Head, to assist Mr. Ferry in the Qu'Appelle and Indian Head, held until Mr. Gordon arrived at the former place.

The next regular meeting was appointed to be held at Broadview on the second Monday in March next.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of THE PROGRESS:

SUMMERBERRY, Dec. 12, 1889.

SIR:—It has been suggested here that we elect a set of old women for councillors for the Municipality of Wolsley for the coming year, and last night my woman and I was quietly discussing the question whether she might not run for a place in the council. She asked me what were the qualifications. I said an old—Well, I did not get any further, for as she was cutting some meat at the time and had the butcher knife in her hand, I saw her hand tighten on the handle and I said no more. Now, sir, editors are supposed to know everything (especially by us poor ignorant farmers), so I thought it would be best to ask you for the necessary information at what time in a woman's life might the term old be applied without danger of hurting their feelings. If you would kindly answer this you might save some poor fellow's hair. Our reasons for putting in old women for officers are to keep down taxes, and as the women have to pay the taxes out of their butter and egg money here this year we think that they will work more economical than our old councillors did, and if you would just answer this in your next issue you would oblige the Municipality of Wolsley, of which I am an elector.

SULLIVAN'S BRAVE ATTEMPT TO MASTER HIS EMOTIONS.

Called Upon to Deliver His Oration, and Have His Ability as a Public Speaker Tested in the Court Room—Fervent of the Trial.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The only reason why thousands of people are not to be seen outside the Criminal Court building every day is that Judge McDonald's court-room will not seat more than 200, and a thousand men and women crowd the sidewalks all morning and afternoon and scramble like ants to hear the speaker to the Court jury. The orators to-day were Mr. W. J. Hynes and Mr. Wm. A. Foster. If anyone was possible in an American court of justice, Mr. Hynes would have received an ovation for his brilliant effort on behalf of the State. He seemed possessed of the inspiration of a Cicero as he hurled down the truth before the jury. The defendants have crowded between themselves and the gallery or spectators. In nothing language he denounced the chief conspirators, whom he said were the cause of the Irish famine. He seemed to stand upon a pinnacle, and with a prophetic vision, he lifted the veil of the future and thundered forth this prophecy: "We do not know who prompted and deceived the miserable dupes on trial, but we will know when some pious conscience, feeling in remorse, shows its face in the phosphorescent light from the gallows, and the yellow shroud and gives forth the inner truth on the verge of eternity." When the emotional lawyer called upon Sullivan to confess his crime and move his guilty conscience, he blinked his eyes to suppress the inclination to break down, and turned as pale as if already in the embrace of death. But he and Connelley had made up their minds to stand firm and denounce the Irish lawyer, and stood the ordeal fairly well.

Mr. Hynes, who was once a prominent Glasgow man, repudiated the dynamic policy toward England, and showed that his patriotism was of a loftier and nobler order by demanding that the Irish people should seek Home Rule as George Washington sought it and Robert Emmet tried to obtain it—by legitimate constitutional methods. When Mr. Hynes criticized Sullivan's Irish lawyer for saying, "I don't know whether your crime is a crime, and I don't care," Mr. Donahue, with bulldog stubbornness and stupidity, repeated that he did not know and did not care. With flashing eyes and burning cheeks, Mr. Hynes turned upon the lawyer who had denounced him in the most bitter terms for his conduct. At another time, when Mr. Donahue objected twice to the same statement made by Hynes, Mr. Donahue sneered, "One objection is as good as twenty unless the thing is automatic and can't stop." Mr. Donahue, the "new made bar," knew who he had enough and kept quiet after that.

Mr. W. A. Foster, so far as he went, made an argumentative plea for Hynes alone, who has not been called by any lawyer who has yet spoken. Much of the time and darkness which enshrouded the official doings of the Senior Guardian's Camp and the utterances of Hynes were cleared away as the morning sun dispels the mist. Hynes is acquitted or given only a short term of imprisonment, it will be mainly owing to the skillful manner in which his case was handled. Hynes is given a fine and has already impressed the jury from the start with Hynes' innocence, removed the prejudice which existed against his client, and conducted himself in the most exemplary manner.

Mr. W. S. Forrest is sick at home, and will not be able to follow Mr. Foster tomorrow.

Allowing three days for the addresses of Messrs. Forrest and Mills, the trial will not be on and until next Thursday, unless the jury should remain out longer than is expected.

False to Her Vows.

ONTARIO, Dec. 9.—A rather startling story of domestic infidelity has been current in the city the last few days and rapidly gained in importance as it grew older. To-day it is confirmed. The wife of a member of the civil service has, says the Free Press, eloped with a well known "man about town." The lady in question is given as Mrs. John Campbell. Her husband is said to be Mr. Fred O'Connor, but his friends declare that his absence can be satisfactorily explained. They are known to have left town last night. The deserted husband is lying seriously ill at home from the effects of the blow.

O'Connor is a gay young fellow connected with the military, fond of smoking cigarettes and entirely dependent for his living on his relatives. On Tuesday last the young man did not turn out to duty and some mention was made of his absence. He was a regular attendant, having nothing else to do. Last evening the rumor broke out that he had gone to Lowell, Mass., with the civil servant's wife. The rumor was mentioned. The young man's husband is in a highly respected and occupies a prominent position in the service. It is said today that a separation was effected between the wife and the husband a couple of days ago.

Good for His Children.

KANSAS, Dec. 9.—Last night a large number of families from the village of Garden City and owned and occupied by John Modder, caught fire, and Modder, in his efforts to save his children, sacrificed his own life. He was about a week without a cloud of smoke rolled down the street. Mr. Modder was out and opening his feet. He looked and saw the upper part of his children in the air. "My children! My children!" cried Mr. Modder, and he went up stairs with a bound. The children passed down and were rescued from death. In fighting his way to the stairs, a son was badly burnt about the face. Modder's wife and children called the brave man to come back, but he did not answer until he got into the arms of the children. The flames spread rapidly, and when fanned by a strong breeze did fierce work in the cabin. A number of people gathered outside and rescued the children. The body was buried to a depth. The fire was started by the children while playing with matches.

DEATH ON A FLAMING PIER.

Four Men Rescued to Death and Many Injured.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The National Steamship Company's dock at pier 38, North River, took fire at half past 1 o'clock this afternoon, and burned nearly to the water's edge. Four blackened dead bodies were taken from the ruins. Many more people were badly burned, some of whom are likely to die. It was the most disastrous fire on the river front for some time. For two hours the fire raged the efforts of nearly the entire fire department below Fourteenth street, and seriously threatened the adjacent piers. The steamship Holland, belonging to the National Company, lay in her berth at the north side of the pier when the fire was discovered. By quick work she was removed from her dangerous position and towed to the Jersey side. Exactly how the fire occurred is a mystery, but the officials of the company think that it was due to spontaneous combustion among a lot of cotton on the pier. The spread of the fire before it was extinguished, the coincidence of the dock laborers that they could extinguish it without the aid of outside apparatus, gave the flames a tremendous headway. Before the men were really aware of their danger, the westerly end of the dock was a burning mass, and such of the laborers as escaped had to seek for their lives. It was then that most of them were injured. The fire did not escape at that time, but was overpowered by the smoke, and fell senseless and dying in their tracks. Three alarms were turned in finally, and the flames were extinguished. The steamship company's efforts on the part of the firemen the flames were subdued at half past 4 o'clock, and the bodies of the victims were conveyed to the pier. The scene was a sad one. The crowd that surrounded the place had somewhat abated. One young woman, however, made several attempts to enter the ruins in search of her brother, William Barry. For half an hour the attention of the spectators was divided between her and the policemen who were endeavoring to soothe her. Finally she was approached by a man who told her the boy was right. She accepted his assurance with a look of relief and turned away. The complete list of those killed and injured is as follows:

LIVING IN STATE.

The Body of Dead Jeff Davis Viewed by Thousands.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—The city to-day was draped in every direction in memory of F. Jefferson Davis. The body is lying in state at the City Hall. This building is specially the centre of attraction, and the thousands of people thronging its corridors and entrance and fill adjacent streets. The hall has been heavily draped with black, relieved in many places by the red, white and blue of the U.S. flag. Rich floral pieces are scattered everywhere throughout the hall, crossed swords being also used as ornamental services. At one end of the hall hangs a portrait of Davis, heavily draped with crape. The coffin is of black plush, edged with heavy black braid. The body will lie in state until next Wednesday.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—All day there was a ceaseless stream of people viewing the remains of Jefferson Davis. Floral offerings have been pouring in, and the coffin now looks as if placed at the base of a bank of flowers. When the doors opened at 10 o'clock fully 3,000 people were waiting to enter. The crowd was so great that the people were allowed to pass the body in single file. The procession was to last for 10,000 people viewed the body to-day.

The Secretary of State at Washington was officially notified of the death of Jefferson Davis to-day.

Miss Winifred Davis, daughter of deceased, is in Paris. She was prostrated at the news of her father's death, and will sail for home this week.

Funeral services were held in many New Orleans churches yesterday in honor of Jefferson Davis.

THE LAST TO HANG.

"Handsome Harry" Carleton, the Final Victim of New York State Gallows.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—"Handsome Harry" Carleton, the murderer of Policeman Brennan, was hanged in the Tombs yesterday this morning at 7:30. His neck was broken and he did not struggle. The execution, and the scenes preceding and immediately attending it, were more than usually lacking in sensational incidents. The prisoner was to have been awakened at 4 this morning, but was sleeping so soundly at that time that he was not wakened until 6:30.

At that time he was aroused. He got up and dressed, taking special pains with necktie and hair, and finally selected articles for breakfast, which he ate heartily at 7:30. He afterwards attended mass in the Prison Chapel. The remaining time was spent in conversing with the priest and prison officials and occasional prayers. He did not finish at 10 o'clock, but went to the scaffold, nor while preparations were being made by the hangman. On the scaffold there was no hitch in any part of the execution. The gallows fell at 11:15. The man remained hanging about fifteen minutes, when the physician pronounced Carleton dead. Carleton was the last New York murderer to die on the gallows at the Tombs.

Carleton was a native of New York, and was a member of the New York State Police. He was a well-known figure in the city, and was known for his handsome appearance and his ability as a fighter. He was arrested in 1898 for the murder of Policeman Brennan, and was sentenced to hang in 1900. He was the last person to be executed in the Tombs.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

Over 80 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagar's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, corns, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

The following is a resume of the law in force regarding the receiving of newspapers:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order a discontinuance of their periodicals, the publishers may continue to send until arrears are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect to take the periodicals from the office, to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled up their bill and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing them from the office and sending them to the publisher is liable to send a person to jail for evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of their term if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is obliged to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrears, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "Refused," and have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, lays himself liable to arrest and fine, same as for theft.

—Christmas cards at any price you want them at the Qu'Appelle Medical Hall.

—The Catholic Bishop of Vancouver, Bishop Lemmans, said mass here last Saturday morning, and on his return from a visit to the Industrial School at the Valley, on Sunday evening, preached to a large congregation on the sinfulness of pride. His Lordship explained the gospel of the day and gave some facts to prove his assertions, and said that such subjects are not understood alike by every one. Take, for instance, the infallibility of the Pope. His Holiness is only infallible in matters of faith and morals. He can sin as well as any one else. His Lordship's sermon was well received. After the instruction His Lordship sang and gave the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Magman and Montreuil, Bishop Segnos, his predecessor, was killed by the Indians two years ago. No doubt His Lordship gathered some useful ideas from his visit to the Industrial School for the management of the school about to be established in his diocese. His Lordship went west on Monday morning. Father Montreuil is preparing seven people for their first communion Christmas Eve.

—The children of the Presbyterian Sunday School will give a cantata entitled "The Little Gipsy," to be given on Monday evening, 23rd inst., in Government Hall. The children have been thoroughly and carefully trained, and there is no doubt that the cantata will be excellent. Admission, 25 cents; children free. Program begins at 20 o'clock. Parties are requested to make use of the tree to give presents to their friends. Articles may be left with Mr. Brydon, at the Medical Hall, or with the committee.
